take pleasure in announcing to the Trade that early in April they will publish

Robert Tournay

A Romance of the French Revolution

By WILLIAM SAGE

With Illustrations by ERIC PAPE and His Pupils

1 vol., crown 8vo, handsomely bound, $1.50

READERS who have torn their way with breathless eagerness through Dickens's most dramatic "Tale of Two Cities," will find in "Robert Tournay" a very similar interest. It relates to the same volcanic period, the French Revolution; more than one of the characters are drawn directly from the actors in the great tragedy; and the spirit and atmosphere of that tremendous time pervade Robert Tournay as they pervaded Dickens's Tale. Robespierre, the actor Gaillard, General Hoche, and the Marquis de St. Hilaire figure in the story and make it seem a part of the tragic experience of Paris during the Terror. Tournay is a thoroughly interesting character—a patriot of the noblest strain and a lover of great loyalty. He is nearly omnipresent, vigilant, fertile in resource, a genuine chevalier to rescue those in distress, especially the aristocratic lady he loves, and though sometimes failing in his plans yet generally achieving his purposes in a way very gratifying to the reader. In a word, "Robert Tournay" is an exceedingly interesting story of a period which stands out with terrible distinctness in the world's history; and it promises to be a book of uncommon popularity.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & COMPANY

4 Park St., Boston; 11 East 17th St., New York

"Book News ventures the prediction that 'The Light of Scarthey' will soon be classed among the best selling books published during the year eighteen hundred and ninety-nine in this country. Mr. Egerton Castle seems to have surpassed all his other efforts in this novel, which he is pleased to call his dream child. For the last few weeks the demand for this book has been steadily increasing, and the book is now rapidly approaching the hundred thousand mark."—From the Philadelphia Book News for March, 1900.

NOTES IN SEASON.

WHITAKER & RAY Co., San Francisco, have ready "A Guide to Mexico," containing a colored map and numerous illustrations and offering a key to the wealth of Mexico, said to surpass that of the Klondike; also, a series of stirring war poems by Joaquin Miller, entitled "Chants for the Boer," written in behalf of the Boer and published in neat booklet form.

THE HOME PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, will very shortly publish a new novel by Archibald Clavering Gunter, entitled, "Adrian de Portalis." The story is divided into four books, entitled "The Runaway Baroness," "A Patriot Conspirator," "The Touch of Love," and "The Naked Hands of the People." The plot is said to be "ingenious and striking and worked out with great accuracy of detail."

THE H. B. CLAFIN COMPANY have purchased from Harper & Brothers the balance of their limited edition, in paper covers of "The Sowers." With the exception of a few orders taken previous to the consummation of their arrangements the Clafin Company will control the entire paper covered edition of this popular work. They will publish next week in their Standard Series of paper novels, "For the Freedom of the Sea," by Cyrus Townsend Brady.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. have put all their energies to getting out the books announced last season which were destroyed, when almost ready, in their disastrous fire. Among those now ready are "Bohemian Paris of To-day," by W. C. Morrow, in a second edition; Vol. 1 of the new issue of "Stanford's Compendium of Geography and Travel," dealing with the Northwest of Europe, written by George G. Chisholm; and a new revised and enlarged edition, edited by Bishop Whitehead, of Bishop Cleveland Cox's "Thoughts on the Services." New fiction includes "A New Race Diplomatist," a novel of the American colony in Paris by Mrs. Jennie Bullard Waterbury; "Andromeda," by Robert Buchanan; Mrs. Alexander's "A Golden Autumn;" and Clinton Ross's "Chalmette."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day an essay on the practicability of political reform, entitled "Practical Agitation," by John Jay Chapman, author of "Causes and Consequences," etc.; "The Messages of Paul," the first ten epistles of Paul arranged in their probable chronological order, with brief introductions and analyses, rendered in paraphrase, by Dr. George Barker Stevens, forming vol. XI of The Messages of the Bible series; "History of the Jewish People, during the Maccabean and Roman periods, including New Testament Times," by Professor J. S. Riggs, a new volume in The Historical Series for Bible Students; also, "The Boss of Ta-roomba," by E. W. Hornung, a new volume in the attractive Ivory Series. They have just imported a volume entitled "Innermost China, travel and sport in the Pamirs," by Ralph P. Cobbold, with illustrations and maps; and "The White Robe of Churches in the xth Century, pages from the story of Gloucester Cathedral," by the Very Rev. H. D. M. Spence, Dean of Gloucester.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish in April "Robert Tournay, a romance of the French Revolution." Its author is William Sage, the younger son of the well-known Abby Sage Richardson. He has long been a student of French history and particularly of the French Revolution, and has founded his story upon well authenticated events occurring in that terrible period. Leading characters in the book are Robespierre, Danton, and General Hoche—the latter an attractive and as yet wholly new and unhackneyed character in the fiction of romance; and such historical events are made use of as the pretended marriage of the hero and heroine in order to effect the escape of the latter from the mob, the stealing of death warrants to save the lives of persons condemned to the guillotine, and the attempt to rescue Robespierre's victims from the tumbrils the day of the monster's downfall. The story is said to be carried forward with a resistless interest due to the rapid succession of events, which, while not at all melodramatic, are full of exciting interest. The love story is described as one full of tenderness and charm. It is a book which, in the present vogue of the romantic story, is quite certain to attain a successful sale.

- Coler, Bird S. Municipal government as illustrated by the charter, finances, and public charities of New York. N. Y., Appleton, 1900. c. 8+200 p. D. cl., $1.
A statement of conditions that exist in New York City, with reports of progress. Details are presented of errors in the charter, changes that should be made, with facts showing how public charity has been abused. Other chapters relate to income and expenses; water supply; transportation; city development; the church in politics; and political machines. Mr. Coler is Comptroller of New York City.
- Cornford, L. Cope. Robert Louis Stevenson. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. c. 7+201 p. D. cl., $1.25.
An essay toward a just appreciation of Stevenson's personality and temperament as shown in his finished achievement. Sidney Colvin is writing the authorized biography and the author gives nothing new in biographical details. He treats of Stevenson's heritage, his ancestry, gives an outline of his life, and then analyzes Stevenson's work as moralist, artist, novelist, limner of landscape and romanticist. The chapter on Stevenson's style is a distinct addition to Stevenson literature.
- Crockett, S: Rutherford. Joan of the sword hand. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. c. '98, 1900. 3+436 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
A romance of the fifteenth century. "Joan of the Sword Hand" is a charming young princess who is able to defend herself and her kingdom by her dexterous use of the sword. Especially does this accomplishment serve her in good stead when, secretly and in disguise, she visits the court of a royal suitor, determined that unless her heart sanction it the marriage shall never take place. As might be expected, the adventurous Princess Joan falls in love with some one else, and her adventures thereafter are many and exciting.
- Cynewulf. The Christ of Cynewulf: a poem in three parts—the advent, the ascension, and the last judgment; ed., with introd., notes and glossary, by Albert Stanburrough Cook. Bost., Ginn, 1900. c. 97+294 p. O. (Albion ser., ed. J. W. Bright and G. L. Kettredge.) cl., $1.65.
The text of this old Anglo-Saxon poem. With a very full introduction treating of the poem and its form, other poems attributed to Cynewulf, with fact and opinion concerning Cynewulf, etc.
- Daniel, Ferdinand Eugene. Recollections of a rebel surgeon and other sketches; or, in the doctor's sappy days. Austin, Tex., Von Boeckmann, Schutze & Co., 1899. c. 4+264 p. il. D. cl., $1.
Personal reminiscences of army life in camp, field and hospital during the war of secession, and of subsequent events, both humorous and pathetic.
- Darlington, Nina K. Photo-verses. Bost., published by the author, Nina K. Darlington, 1899. c. 102 p. obl. Tt. cl., $1.
Little verse-slips intended to be pasted on the backs of photographs of the composers and used in "Kindergarten music-building" for little ones who will become acquainted with the great masters while studying these verses.
- Darlow, Rev. T: Herbert. The print of the nails. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1899. 4+134 p. nar. D. (Little books on religion.) cl., 50 c.
Brief religious papers entitled, The print of the nails; God the subtractor; A word against weariness; The heritage of the meek; The second mile; The name that is called wonderful; The lost fear of God.
- Defoe, Dan. Journal of the plague year; ed. by Walter Jerrold. N. Y., Macmillan, 1900. 16°, (Temple classics.) cl., 50 c.; limp leath., 75 c.
- Deschamps, Gaston. Tolstoi's "Resurrection": a review. N. Y., Tucker Pub. Co., [1900.] 8 p. D. (Balzac lib., no. 3.) pap., 3 c.
- Dickinson, Evelyn. Hearts importunate. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. c. '99. 2+312 p. D. cl., $1.25.
A man whose marriage has been unhappy begins life in the Australian Bush. Here he meets a woman of great beauty with pronounced opinions regarding the wickedness of men. She also has a secret in her life. The descriptions of Australian life and the eccentric and original relatives of the heroine are skilfully represented.
- Donaldson, A: B., (Canon.) Five great Oxford leaders: Keble, Newman, Pusey, Liddon, and Church. N. Y., Macmillan, 1900. 11+390 p. 12°, cl., $1.75.

Gerard, Dorothea. One year. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. c. 2+309 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A romantic story with its scene laid among the Polish aristocracy of East Galatia. The story is told by an English governess who becomes a member of a family that has a skeleton in its closet. There is an intricate plot, and a mystery the solution of which is only reached at the close of the story.

Gray, T: Elegy; with a tr. into Latin elegiac verse, by Sir Alex. J. E. Cockburn. Bost., F: Dortman & Co., 1900. 3-19 p. sq. O. pap., 50 c.

The Lord Chief Justice of England who represented the British nation in re the Alabama claims translated Gray's elegy into Latin as mental relaxation during a number of years and presented it to a few of his friends in 1871. This is a reprint from the copy given to Mr. Beresford-Hope for the University of Cambridge. The publishers announce a reprint of Hon. George Denman's translation of the elegy into Greek elegiacs as soon as 100 subscribers at 50 c. a copy can be secured.

Halleck, Reuben Post. History of English literature. N. Y., Amer. Book Co., [1900.] 3-499 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Traces the development of English literature from the earliest times to the present date. Especial attention is paid to literary movements, to the essential qualities which differentiate one period from another, and to showing the animating spirit of each age. One of the features of the work is its critical estimates of the general characteristics of the greatest authors.

Mill, Hugh Rob., ed. International geography; by seventy authors. N. Y., Appleton, 1900. c. '99. 12+1086 p. O. $3.50.

The object is to present in one volume an authoritative summary of the whole of geography as fully as space permits. The limit of size makes it impossible to treat any part of the subject exhaustively, but by sacrificing such details as may be found better expressed in the maps of an atlas it is possible to give prominence to the essential facts. Like most treatises on geography, the work is divided into two unequal and contrasted parts. The first deals with the "Principles of geography" and their applications in the most general sense. The second part deals more fully with the "Countries of the world" at the present day; each article involving the application of some or all of the general principles stated in the first part. List of standard geographical books of reference. (1 p.).

Tolstoi, Count Lyoff Nicholaievich. Resurrection: a novel; tr. by Mrs. Louise Maude; il. by Pasternak. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. c. '99. 10+519 p. D. cl., $1.50.

In this novel Count Tolstoy clearly states his philosophy of life. He lays the blame of the sins of the world chiefly upon existing forms of government and ecclesiastical authority. His heroine is introduced coming from prison to trial accused of the murder of a lover. Her story is told with startling realism. The hero who had been the first cause of the heroine's sinful life realizes his responsibilities and devotes his life to his fellow-men. Russian conditions are faithfully described. The book contains a facsimile signature of Tolstoy authorizing this edition of his book.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 10, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BOOKSELLING THROUGH TRAVELLING AGENTS.*

THOUGH the "drummer" is distinctively an American product, the selling of goods through travelling agents is probably as old as commerce itself. Books, that is, printed books, have been so sold ever since the invention of printing. For a century, at least, the bulk of the books printed were sold by itinerant booksellers, either principals or agents, to private buyers and to the trade. The inmates of monasteries in sequestered localities, for instance, were almost wholly dependent upon the book peddler, or, as they styled themselves, bibliopola libros venales deportans, for the latest productions of the press. Even university towns encouraged the visits of the travelling booksellers by liberal patronage and by privileges of various sorts. During the period of the uprising of the peasants in Germany, as well as during the Reformation, it was the travelling bookseller who often combined with his calling the office of advance agent of new political and religious ideas, just as in later times, in new countries, he was the torch-bearer of civilization, and frequently the only link between a condition of barbarism and culture. His travels extended throughout Germany, Italy, France, Spain, and England. As the art of printing spread to countries beyond Germany, the agents of the printers in those countries invaded the fatherland of printing and all the cities beyond their own, until, by degrees, the famous trading centres like Paris, Frankfort-on-the-Main, and, later, North German Leipzig, became the depôts, during the spring and autumn fairs, of the book products of the world. Later, these fairs were introduced into England, and, two centuries later, a short-lived attempt was made to introduce book-fairs into this country.

The book-fairs gradually went out of existence in England and in France. In Germany the book-fair exists only in name, the Oster-Messe (Easter fair) marking simply the end of the fiscal year, when accounts are settled and an uncertain number of the membership of the Börsenverein meet in social intercourse. But the itinerant bookseller—the commercial traveller—survives, and prospers despite antagonistic legislation here and abroad, despite even the "trusts." The treasurer of a "trust" declared in substance a short time ago, that the formation of "trusts" in all lines of business would be a great boon to the public, because the "trusts" would do away altogether with commercial travellers, the cost of maintaining whom, by the wholesalers, was an unnecessary tax on the consumer; and, that, since the members of the "trusts" had no need for travelling salesmen, the prices of the products sold by "trusts" would be reduced by the amount saved in salaries paid to travelling men. How wide of the mark this statement was, those intimately acquainted with the imperative necessity of modern commerce to seek a market away from home, need not be told.

THE GUTENBERG CELEBRATION AT MAYENCE.

THE Burgomaster of Mayence, Dr. Heinrich Gassner, has just issued a circular giving further particulars respecting the celebration of the five-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Gutenberg which is to take place at Mayence in June next. It is proposed to have an academic festival on Sunday, June 24, commencing with a cantata composed by Dr. Volbach, the director of the Mainzer Liedertafel and the Ladies' Vocal Association. An address will be delivered by Albert Köstu, Professor of German Literature at the University of Leipzig. Afterwards Haydn's Creation will be performed. Then there will be a procession to the Gutenberg Monument, where wreaths and flowers will be deposited. All the bells in the city will be rung and the streets are to be decorated. An exhibition will also be held, of models and specimens of the work of the various branches of the graphic arts. An illustrated programme of the whole celebration is to be prepared, and when its form has been definitely adopted by the Celebration Committee it will be printed. It is hoped and expected that representatives of the printing and kindred industries will meet in great numbers on the occasion, and thus "do homage to Mainz's greatest son."

* Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling," from P. W., February 17, 1900, p. 360.

Notwithstanding the almost world-wide acceptance of Gutenberg as the first European letterpress printer, it is a curious fact that not a single piece of printed matter produced in his lifetime bears his name. The works with which he is usually associated are very few in number, viz., the "Indulgences," of Pope Nicholas v., which bear dates in 1454 and 1455 (there appear to have been at least two different editions,) and the 42-line or Mazarin Bible, an existing copy of which bears the manuscript date of August, 1456. It was a few months prior to this latter time, in November, 1455, that the law suit which seems to have arisen between Gutenberg and his partner Fust was decided in the latter's favor. The result appears to have been that the partnership was dissolved, all the assets of the business being retained by Fust,* who was the moneyed man of the concern and carried it on henceforward in conjunction with his son-in-law, Schöffer. What became of Gutenberg after this time is uncertain, but there are a few books, supposed to have been printed at or near Mayence about that period (the "Catholicon," for instance,) with the production of which—perhaps at Eltvill, a suburb of Mayence—his name is generally connected by bibliographers. At the time of his death he seems to have been in the service of the Archbishop Adolphus of Mayence, as certain effects of his connected with the art of printing were handed over by the Archbishop to a Dr. Humery, who is supposed, by some writers on the subject, to have assisted Gutenberg financially in his enterprises, after the rupture with Fust.

It was not until some years after the death of the alleged German prototypographer that we find his name mentioned in a printed book, as being probably the inventor of typography. This was in the preface to a work published at Paris in 1472 (?) by the first printers in that city, and even then it is only referred to as a "story" current locally and not as a well-ascertained fact. Twenty-seven years later (1499) the "Cologne Chronicle" was published, in which appears a fairly circumstantial account of the invention of printing, and it specifically refers to Gutenberg (on the authority of a man who had perhaps worked under Schöffer up to 1462) as the inventor of it.

Not until a later period was Coster "discovered," although there seems little room to doubt the existence of such a person at Haarlem at some part—perhaps during the second half—of the 15th century. The evidence, such as it is, in Gutenberg's favor, is thus merely of a presumptive character and all of a date after his own death. He seems never to have publicly claimed the invention during his lifetime, and, in fact, "we know about as much—or as little"—to quote the British and Colonial Printer and Stationer, ancient the supposed first printer in Germany, as we do about the supposed first printer in England, as, in spite of Mr. Blades' splendid monograph on this latter subject, the number of really new facts that he discovered about Caxton as a printer—apart from the mere enumeration of his books and the classification of his types—is singularly small.* If any contemporary monument was erected to Gutenberg in the Mayence Church where he was buried, it has since disappeared, neither is anything known of his will, nor of any children or other relatives which he may have left behind him." To put it briefly, we know that Gutenberg was alive between 1432 and 1468, but no contemporary document, printed or written, concerning him or his affairs (prior to the French book of 1472) is known to exist, nothing but copies; not that it is assumed that the originals, or at least some of them, did not exist at one time or other and were genuine.

The forthcoming celebration, therefore, will be directed mainly to honoring the memory of a man of whom we know very little, to reaffirming his connection with certain books to which—if he had anything at all to do with them—he did not once put his name, and to insisting upon his being the inventor of an art which he apparently not only never claimed for himself, but which nobody else ever claimed for him until after he was dead.

LITERARY WORK OF AMERICAN NEGROES AT PARIS EXPOSITION.

ACCORDING to the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, "a proper appreciation of the intellectual capacities of the colored race is to be exhibited at the Paris exposition, when a special exhibit is to be made of their literary work, to be superintended by Thomas J. Calloway, formerly of the treasury department at Washington, a graduate of Fisk University, and late president of Alcorn University in Mississippi. In response to a request to Librarian Putnam, of the Congressional Library, from Commissioner-General Peck, Daniel Murray, of the library, is given authority to select from works by colored authors which are in the library collection and to procure, as far as possible, copies of other interesting works which may be scattered through the country. Among the works already selected are all those by Frederick Douglass; 'Music and Some Highly Musical People,' by James M. Trotter, late recorder of deeds for the District; 'Genesis Reread,' by T. G. Stewart, a graduate of Wilberforce Academy and a chaplain in the army, now in the Philippines; three

*From a typographical point of view we know more about Gutenberg (almost all the ascertained particulars respecting whom refer to his career as a printer) than about Caxton, as most of the authenticated particulars referring to the life of the latter deal with him otherwise than as a printer.

†We know little, if any more, however, concerning either Fust or Schöffer, beyond the book they printed, and it yet remains for some enthusiastic bibliographer to deal thoroughly with that branch of the invention of printing.

*Judging, for instance, from the fact that the next important production of the Mayence press (the Psalter of 1457, the first book with a printed date) is described as being printed by Fust and Schöffer only.

law books of great value by D. Augustus Straker of Michigan; the 'Future of the American Negro,' and 'Black Belt Diamonds,' by Booker T. Washington; 'Poems of Cabin and Field,' and other works by Paul Laurence Dunbar; 'A History of the Negro Race,' by George W. Williams, appointed minister to Hayti during the Arthur administration; a volume of remarkable dialect stories by Charles W. Chestnut, of Ohio.

"Other notable colored authors who will be in the exhibit are: Richard Allen, founder of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, and the first colored bishop; Bishop Daniel A. Paine, founder of Wilberforce University; Rev. J. W. C. Pennington, seventy-five years ago counted one of the most learned men of his day, and at one time pastor of a white Presbyterian congregation in Connecticut; Bishops Tanner and Wayman; David Walker, whose 'Appeal,' published eighty years ago, created a sensation; Joseph T. Wilson, author of 'The Black Phalanx,' and James M. Whitefield, a Buffalo barber-poet. There are scores of colored people who earn money with their pens, in magazines and weeklies, but who are not book-makers. Among these are Miss Barbara Pope and Mrs. William E. Matthews, Mrs. Victoria Earle Matthews of New York, Miss Ida Platt of Chicago, and Prof. R. T. Green-er, now consul at Vladivostok, whose recent information in regard to the Siberian railroad attracted national attention.

"Among books peculiarly individual is 'A Colored Man's Reminiscences of President Madison,' by Paul Jennings, the son of a slave of Madison. Jennings's mother was of Indian as well as African blood, his father English. Jennings became the body servant of President Madison. He probably had characteristics that attracted attention, for Daniel Webster bought him of Mr. Madison and gave him his freedom. It is recorded that in 1865, at the sale of the effects of a colored man who had been a messenger of the House of Representatives, the following autograph was sold:

"WASHINGTON, March 19, 1847.

"I have paid $129 for the freedom of Paul Jennings. He agrees to work out the sum at $8 per month, to be found with board, clothes and washing—to begin when we return from the South. His freedom papers I give him; they are recorded in this District.

"DANIEL WEBSTER.

Another author, who enjoyed the distinction of being the first of the race to gain recognition in this country, was Phillis Wheatley, and her poems will swell the list of literary works that are nothing short of wonderful when the conditions under which they have been produced are considered. Still other books which deserve mention are 'Joining the Navy,' by John E. Payntre, a Washington man, who was a cadet and wrote of his travels all round the world in a book so much approved that it was placed in the libraries of all the government vessels. Mrs. Frances Harper, who represented the cause of her people with Frederick Douglass, will be represented by her poems and her one novel, 'Iola Leroy.' It is said that Mr. Murray has already a list of 1000 volumes, the work of 190 authors, though he has but just begun the task of collecting. From these he will choose the most admirable and distinctive for the exhibit.

"In a recent number of the Washington Post appeared a eulogy of Henry C. Bruce of Washington, some portion of which is here quoted: "It seems to us that one of the most useful and important books ever written by any negro in this country is 'The New Man,' by Henry C. Bruce of Washington. This very valuable work was issued some three or four years ago, and the Post upon that occasion indulged in highly complimentary comment. Its historical value was obvious. It dealt with the relations between the slaves and their masters, and it was animated by so just and so kindly a spirit as to win instant and grateful recognition from the only class of whites who really understood and sympathize with the American negro. We refer to the former slave-holders and their descendants. Mr. Bruce is a man of good sense and good feeling. Proud as any of the highly-born aristocrats who, fifty years ago, owned him and his brethren; too proud to wish to thrust himself upon any one; relying upon the same causes that have made the Caucasian dominant, Mr. Bruce preaches the gospel of labor, and struggle, and individual merit, and patient self-reliance. He tells the negro—what is true—that his best friend and most affectionate sympathizer is to be found in the ranks of the old slave-owning aristocracy of the South."

NEW YORK CONDEMNS "SAPHO."

UNDER a decree of Chief of Police Devery, Miss Nethersole was not allowed to appear in "Sapho" at Wallack's Theatre, New York, on the evening of the 5th inst. The police order followed the decision of Magistrate Mott in the afternoon holding Miss Nethersole, her manager, and others connected with the play, to answer to a charge in the Court of Special Sessions that in producing the play "Sapho" they violated Section 385 of the Penal Code, offended public decency, and maintained a nuisance.

Thus far the book-trade has not been molested, though there is a feeling abroad that the agents of the Society for the Prevention of Crime are watching an opportunity to construct a case to suit their purpose. Since the conviction, last week, of Kohler, the Philadelphia newsdealer, the vendors have become less vociferous and more guarded in offering their "faked" editions of "Sapho;" notwithstanding this the Philadelphia police, on the 5th inst., arrested Bernard Kline, a street peddler, on the charge of selling "Sapho." Magistrate Jermon of the Central Police Court held Kline in $600 for dealing in obscene literature.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE next important historical serial to appear in the Century Magazine is to have Martin Luther as its subject, and is to be written by the Hon. Andrew White, ambassador to Berlin.

THE first number of the Smart Set, a "journal of cleverness," is out to-day. It is published by the Ess Ess Publishing Co.,

1135 Broadway, of which Mr. Kennerley, formerly representative, in this country, of John Lane, is the manager.

The New Magazine is to be the title of the new ten-cent monthly magazine of which Robert Howard Russell is to be editor-in-chief and publisher. Among the leading features is to be a new series of "Dolly Dialogues," by Anthony Hope, which will be illustrated by Mr. Christy, and a new serial story by Hall Caine, to be entitled, "The Roman." Each number is to have a special cover. The magazine is to be distributed through the agency of the New York Journal, the proprietor of which, W. R. Hearst, is one of the stockholders of the company which is to furnish the capital for the enterprise.

The Bookman has secured as a serial for this year a novel entitled "Stringtown on the Pike." While it is not the first book of the writer, yet it is his first venture in fiction. It is a thoroughly American story in spirit and in execution. The writer, John Uri Lloyd, was born in western New York, and removed to Cincinnati, where he became a clerk in a retail drug store. In his spare time rescued from the long hours, then and now inseparable from that occupation, he taught himself to be so good a chemist that he is now a member of the principal pharmaceutical societies not only in this country but abroad as well. He is the author of a number of technical works in that department which have a cosmopolitan reputation. His knowledge of chemistry has led to his accumulating a fortune in the manufacture and sale of preparations which have a world-wide reputation among the medical profession. A few years ago he wrote a book called "Eti-dorhpa," which was published at his own expense in Cincinnati, and has passed through ten or twelve editions of as many thousand copies each. This book embodies the author's speculations in various directions, and may be considered a scientific romance. "Stringtown on the Pike" was written by the author for his own satisfaction, and with no expectation of its being published.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.—A. C. Brechin, bookseller, has admitted his son as joint partner in his business from 1st March. The name and style of firm is now A. C. Brechin & Son.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—The New Wilson-Webb Co. has filed articles of incorporation and is now prepared to conduct its business. The new company occupies the quarters of the old Wilson & Webb Book and Stationery Co., at 212 Main Street. The incorporators are: W. F. Barry, formerly of Fayetteville; T. P. Murray, formerly of Fort Smith; J. C. Massey, formerly of Morrilton; and J. A. Watkins, of this city. Mr. Barry is president, Mr. Murray vice-president, and Mr. Massey secretary and treasurer. The capital stock is $13,000, of which $10,075 is paid up. The new company acquired the stock of the old company at referee's sale. They purpose to make considerable additions to the stock and will carry a full line of books, stationery, and sundries in their line.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Doxey Book Company, of San Francisco, Cal., is removing to this city. The concern will, after it is established here, devote itself exclusively to publishing under the firm name of "Doxey's Incorporated."

OAKLAND, CAL.—The firm of Smith Bros. has been incorporated to conduct a general book, stationery and art material business, wholesale and retail. The incorporators are J. Frank Smith, Charles Leonard Smith, Anna E. Smith, Mabel Nelson, and Ernest Wilton. The capital stock is $35,000, all of which has been subscribed. Charles L. Smith holds 1745 shares at $10 each, Anna E. Smith 1740 shares, and each of the others five shares each.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Henry Altemus Company was incorporated last week. The capital is $150,000, the business authorized is printing and publishing, and the incorporators are H. Altemus, H. Altemus, Jr., R. E. Altemus, and R. Altemus.

TAMPA, FLA.—C. B. Fitch has sold his book and stationery business to J. A. M. Grable. The title will be the Tampa Book & News Co., and it is understood that Charles K. Grable will be associated with the management.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JOHN LANE has just published a new story by William J. Locke, author of "Idols," etc., entitled, "The White Dove."

It turns out that the author of "The Legionaries," published last year by the Bowen-Merrill Co., and then fathered by Henry Scott Clark, is really Millard F. Cox, an Indianapolis judge.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation an exhibition of the work of the Club Bindery. This bindery is under the control of the Grolier Club, and is producing bindings of a remarkably artistic and beautiful character.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just published a book entitled "Twelve Notable Good Women," by Rosa Nouchette Carey. The work contains twelve portraits and will be welcomed by all lovers of noble and useful lives.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have nearly ready a popular book on trees by Harriet L. Keeler, entitled "Our Native Trees, and How to Identify Them." The text will be illustrated with 180 full-page plates from photographs and 170 drawings.

A. WESSELS & Co. have just published a popular history of "The House of Commons," by Sir Richard Temple; also, "London Souvenirs," by Charles W. Heckethorn, who describes famous places and persons in and about London past and present.

DOUBLEDAY & McCCLURE Co. will publish at once a new story by Ellen Anderson Gholson Glasgow, author of "The Descendant," which is to be entitled "The Voice of the People." The scene of the story is laid in an old Virginia town, just after the Civil War.

FRANCIS WILSON has just published a privately-printed book entitled "The Influence of the Stage upon the Pulpit." One hundred and eighty-six copies were printed, each being numbered and signed by Mr. Wilson. The book has decorations by Edmund H. Garrett and vignettes by A. B. Frost.

CARL GLUCKSMANN, No. 14 East Forty-fifth Street, New York, will be the American agent for the portfolio of forty photogravures commemorating the Rembrandt exhibition at Amsterdam. Many of the subjects have never before been reproduced. Dr. C. Hofstede De Groot furnishes the letterpress and a complete descriptive catalogue.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY announce "The D. L. Moody Year Book, a living daily message from the words of D. L. Moody;" "Moody's Latest Sermons" and "Short Talks by D. L. Moody," two posthumous works by the famous evangelist; also, a treatise on the fourteenth chapter of John, entitled "Christ's Valedictory," by the Rev. Dr. Robert F. Sample.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just ready in the Master Musicians Series a volume on Bach, by Abdy Williams, with illustrations. The position of Johann Sebastian Bach as one of a numerous family of musicians is unique. Of no other composer can it be said that his forefathers, contemporary relations and descendants were all musicians and holders of very important offices as such.

GINN & Co. will publish at once a work by Allen W. Gould, entitled "Mother Nature's Children." The book aims to help the young to see the spirit rather than the form of Nature. It traces the love and care and mutual dependence of living things from human beings down to the plants. And while it is set in an imaginative frame-work, no facts are stated and no illustrations used save on good scientific authority.

THE DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, announce "For My Musical Friend," essays on music and music study, by Aubertine Woodward Moore; "Tiny Tunes for Tiny People," by Addison F. Andrews; "Memory Pictures of Puget Sound Region," by Beth Bell Higgins; "The Gentle Art of Cooking Wives," by Elizabeth Strong Worthington; and "Alice's Adventures in Piccadilly," by Florence A. Evans.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. announce a volume entitled "Back to Christ," by Walter Spence, who touches upon the more notable changes that have recently taken place in the attitude of theologians to such questions as the Fatherhood of God, the Inspiration of the Scriptures, the Atonement, etc. They will shortly publish a novel by J. Breckinridge Ellis, entitled "The Dread and Fear of Kings." The scene of the story is laid alternately in Rome and the island of Capri; the period is the first century, and some of the characters are historical personages, such as the Emperor Tiberius and the poet Phaedrus.

THE CLUB OF ODD VOLUMES, Boston, have just issued a work entitled "Early Boston Booksellers, 1642-1711," by George E. Littlefield, the well-known bookseller of Cornhill. It makes a volume of 256 pages octavo and is illustrated with reproductions of many title-pages of old and rare books showing the imprints of the publishers and booksellers of the period, and is handsomely printed in bold black letter type on Whatman hand-made paper. The edition is limited to 100 copies furnished only to members of the club. It is an interesting contribution to the history of the literature of the times and a credit to its author.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS are to be the publishers of "Hilda Wade," the last novel completed by Grant Allen just before his death. They are also preparing a second enlarged edition of Danske Dandridge's "Joy and Other Poems;" "Folk Songs from the Spanish," by Helen Huntington; and an account of journeys in China, by Mrs. Isabella Bird Bishop, entitled "The Yangtze Valley and Beyond." Religious works of importance will be "A Historical Commentary on St. Paul's Epistle to the Gallatians," by William M. Ramsay; and "Exploratio Evangelica," by Percy Gardner, an attempt to examine the basis and origin of Christian belief.

THE fifth annual meeting of the Booksellers' League will be held on the 14th inst., at 6:30 P.M., at the rooms of the Aldine Association, 111 Fifth Avenue, corner Eighteenth Street, New York. A President and six members of the Board of Managers will be elected on that occasion, and the usual reports submitted. After the business meeting the author of "America and Americans" will tell the League why he wrote this most popular and fascinating book. Those who wish to attend the dinner must notify Mr. Cass Richardson, at E. P. Dutton & Co.'s, 31 West Twenty-third Street, not later than March 13, otherwise no provision will be made for them. Extra tickets may be had at $1 each.

HUNTER H. ROBINSON, who has so successfully conducted the management of John Lane's American branch office on Fifth Avenue, New York, for the past twelve months, will resign his post on the 1st of April, purely for family reasons. He will return to London and supervise the production of some new ventures in the magazine field; he will also represent various American publishing houses in England. During his stay in America Mr. Robinson has added to his seventeen years' experience of the London book and magazine market (gained with Sampson Low, Marston & Co.) a thorough knowledge of the conditions of publishing in America. His many American friends will wish him hearty success in his further business career.

THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY, Indianapolis, will publish in April, "The Redemption of David Carson," a novel, by Charles Frederick Goss; "Smiles Yoked with Sighs," a book of pathos and humor in rhyme, by Robert J. Burdette, with illustrations by Will Vawter; "Sweepers of the Sea," a tale of adventure, by Charles H. Wetmore; also, "The Tragedy of Hamlet," the first volume of an entirely new edition of Shakespeare, edited by Edward Dowden, published by arrangement with Methuen & Co., of London. They will publish in May a work entitled "American Fungi," by Captain Charles McIlvaine.

More than 800 species, 750 being edible, will be described and illustrated. The edition will be limited to 750 copies.

LEE & SHEPARD will publish next month "Andy Dodge, the history of a scapegoat," by Mark Pierce Pendleton, who has the strong endorsement of W. D. Howells; "The Campaign of the Jungle, or, under Lawton through Luzon," by Edward Stratemeyer, the fifth volume of the Old Glory Series; "The Discovery of a Lost Trail," by Charles B. Newcomb, who is an apostle of the so-called "New Thought;" also, "The Pastor's Helper," by the Rev. Dr. N. T. Whittaker, who has arranged for convenient use the correct forms for the duties of Congregational, Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal, Universalist and Unitarian clergymen. They have in preparation an edition de luxe of the complete works of Charles Sumner, with a new introduction by Senator George F. Hoar, which will be sold by subscription.

F. M. BUCKLES & Co. have added to their attractive Religious Booklets the following nine new titles: "He is Risen! He is Risen!" "Angels, Roll the Rock Away," "Jesus Christ is Risen To-day," "Just as I Am," "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "The Strife is O'er," "Come ye Faithful, Raise the Strain," "Jesus Lives, thy Terrors Now," and "The Day of Resurrection." These are dressed in handsome royal purple covers, with photogravures in an impressed panel, making them specially suitable for Easter presents. The booklets retail at 30 cents.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued "The Northwest Under Three Flags," by Charles Moore, who in easy narrative style gives the history of the Northwest under French, English and American government control; "Elements of International Law," by George B. Davis, a completely revised and enlarged edition of this valuable work; and "The Professor" in the Haworth ed. of the Brontë novels. They will publish shortly "Harper's Guide to the Paris Exposition;" "A Man of His Age," a romance, by Hamilton Drummond; "The Love of Parson Lord, and other stories," by Mary E. Wilkins; also, "A Manifest Destiny," a story of society life today in this country and in England, by Julia Magruder; "The Life of Seward," by Frederic Bancroft; and "Men with the Bark On," a collection of short stories by Frederic Remington.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish shortly "Notes on the Bacon-Shakespeare Question," by the Hon. Charles Allen, a digest of the evidences, direct and indirect, bearing on the authorship of the plays and poems attributed to Shakespeare, from every available Shakespearean student, commentator, and editor, and a minute study of the legal terms used by Shakespeare and by contemporary writers; also a little volume by Leon H. Vincent, entitled "Hôtel de Rambouillet and the Précieuses," a bright and entertaining account of the establishment and influence of the Hôtel de Rambouillet in the first part of the seventeenth century. "The American Anthology," companion work to the "Victorian Anthology," both the work of E. C. Stedman, has been greatly delayed in publication by the illness of the editor. The manuscript was delivered to the publishers only recently, so that for the spring only the large paper edition will be brought out by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. In the fall the "American Anthology" will be published in an edition uniform with the "Victorian Anthology."

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have put their perfect little editions of Dickens and Thackeray's works which they are bringing out in monthly volumes, into limp leather and board leather bindings as well as cloth. The small size of the volumes, the large type, the thinnest opaque paper in the world, and bindings of delicate shade make these books a pleasure to book lovers. They announce a line of India Paper Bibles and claim to have obtained for them the thinnest paper on which printing has ever been accomplished. Among them are the "India Paper Text Bibles" in minion 24°, and in long primer 8°, with dictionary of Scripture names and twelve maps; India Paper Reference Bibles in ruby 24° with maps and index and only $\frac{3}{8}$ of an inch thick and minion 16° with maps and index; also an India Paper Teacher's Bible, containing the Illustrated Bible Treasury, with 350 illustrations and Combined Concordance, only 1 1-16 inches thick. All these may be had in French morocco, Egyptian seal, Persian levant and many other varieties of tasteful, durable bindings.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just published in their admirable Library of English Classics, Malory's "Morte Darthur," in two volumes. The point to be noted in connection with the volumes in this library is that the works included are encumbered with neither new introductions or new notes, the idea being to present typographically perfect reprints of the best existing texts, the editorial labor being confined to bibliographical notes, which are contributed by A. W. Pollard, whose fitness for such work is unquestioned. Future issues will comprise Lockhart's "Life of Scott," the works of Sterne, White's "Selborne," Carlyle's "French Revolution," and Shelton's "Don Quixote." In connection with J. M. Dent & Co., they will begin to publish a long series of international primers, forming a "Primer Cyclopædia." The aim is to provide in a convenient and accessible form the information which the usual bulky and high-priced encyclopædias place beyond the easy reach of the average reader. The series will accordingly aim at the comprehensive inclusion of the chief departments of Literature, Science and Art. Among the first volumes to be issued will be "A History of Politics," by Professor E. Jenks, of Oxford; "Roman History," by Dr. Koch; "The English Church," by H. D. Spence, Dean of Gloucester; and "The Races of Mankind," by Dr. Haberlandt, of the Court Museum at Vienna. They have in press for early publication "The Making of Character, some educational aspects of ethics," by Dr. John Mac Cunn, of University College, Liverpool; "Evolution and Theology," a volume of essays by Dr. Otto Pfeleiderer, translated and edited by Dr. Orello Cone; and a volume by Dr. Nathan Oppenheim, on "The Care of the Child in Health."

AUCTION SALES.

[Under this heading advance notices will be inserted, without charge, of book auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.]

MARCH 13-15.—Remaining portion of the library of the late Rev. R. C. Waterstone, of Boston, Mass., comprising about 4000 miscellaneous English books.—C. F. Libbie & Co.

MARCH 14, 2 P.M.—Miscellaneous. (346 lots).—John Anderson, Jr.

MARCH 19-21, 3 P.M.—Libraries of two well-known collectors. (619 lots).—Bangs.

C. F. LIBBIE & Co., Boston, have in preparation the following catalogues: "Collection of Americana," including scarce town and state histories, genealogies, historical pamphlets, sermons, etc.; "Austin Collection of Autographs," collection of the late Ben. W. Austin, Oak Cliff, Texas, comprising over 10,000 specimens, illustrated with portraits and photographs of eminent persons; "Library of the Late William F. Poole, LL.D.," Librarian of the Newberry Library, Chicago, Ill., comprising Americana, Mathers, publications of historical societies, reference books, bibliography, periodicals, etc.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

READY APRIL 1.

The Annual Literary Index, 1899

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc.; with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology, and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX complements the "Annual American Catalogue" of books, published each year, by indexing (1) articles in periodicals published during the year of its issue; (2) essays and book-chapters in composite books; (3) authors of periodical articles and essays; (4) special bibliographies; (5) authors deceased; (6) dates of principal events during the year. The two volumes together make a complete record of the literary product of the year.

"Of great value to all who would keep advised of the topics and writers in the periodical literature of the day."—Universalist Quarterly.

"Good indexing could no further go."—The Nation.

OUT OF THE WEST

Come Two New Books of Universal Interest.

GUIDE TO MEXICO.

Containing an up-to-date colored map and numerous illustrations.

The Key to Wealth.

Surpassing the Richest Klondyke Treasures. This book is published exclusively in the interest of people who want reliable information about Mexico, free from any false coloring and railway companies might put in selfish prospectuses and guides, liable to mislead seekers of homes or fortunes in that wonderland. Bound in flexible linen, pocket size. Price, $1.00.

CHANTS FOR THE BOER.

A Series of Stirring War Poems, by JOAQUIN MILLER, written in behalf of the Boers.

These poems, published in the form of a neat booklet, are sure to meet with a ready and active sale. Dr. Leyds, the representative of the Transvaal Republic in Germany, has written his appreciation of the matchless poem, "Boston to the Boers."

The publication of this booklet at the time when the Transvaal Republic is making its struggle for resistance is timely.

Bound in illuminated paper cover, very neat design. Price, 25 cents.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

HAVE READY TO-DAY

Practical Agitation

By JOHN JAY CHAPMAN, author of "Emerson, and Other Essays," "Causes and Consequences," etc. 12mo, $1.25.

Mr. Chapman's new book is a brilliant essay on the practicability of political reform if concentrated wholly on the moral side of the question. He is as caustic in criticism of present conditions as he is optimistic about prospects, and he writes with an intensity and incisiveness that endue the subject with vivid interest and succeed in communicating to the reader the conviction of the author.

The Messages of Paul

Arranged in Historical Order, Analyzed, and Freely Rendered in Paraphrase, with Introductions, by GEORGE BARKER STEVENS, Ph.D., D.D. (Being Vol. XI. of "The Messages of the Bible.") 12mo, $1.25 net.

The first ten epistles of Paul, arranged in their probable chronological order, with brief introductions and analyses, are here rendered into a full paraphrase in which special attention is given to the complete expression of the Pauline thought. Explanations are given of the time, place and occasion of each letter, with the indications respecting the contents and movement of thought in each, which will be of great aid to the reader.

History of the Jewish People

During the Maccabean and Roman Periods, Including New Testament Times.

By Prof. J. S. RIGGS, D.D., of Auburn Theological Seminary. (Being Vol. IV. of "The Historical Series for Bible Students.") 12mo, $1.25 net.

This volume treats comprehensively of these little known, but exceedingly interesting, periods of New Testament history. Though the materials for Maccabean history are slender, the author has succeeded in making clear the great ends the Maccabees attained through their valor and courage.

The Boss of Taroomba

By E. W. HORNING, author of "The Amateur Cracksman," etc. The Ivory Series. 16mo, 75 cents.

Another romance of life in the bush, by the author of "Irralie's Bushranger." Life in this rough country, including thrilling experiences with bushrangers, forms the background for an engrossing love story. Naomi, the Boss of Taroomba, is a self-reliant and attractive heroine.

JUST PUBLISHED

Interpretations of Poetry and Religion

By GEORGE SANTAYANA, author of "The Sense of Beauty," etc. 12mo, $1.50.

The keynote of the essays is the inadequacy of any view of life unilluminated by the imagination. The volume is truly creative criticism, and is certain to provoke controversy.

Anglo-Saxons and Others

By ALINE GORREN. 12mo, $1.50.

This book considers the question of Anglo-Saxon superiority, its causes, the likelihood of its permanence, and its effect upon English and American character.
